

A Race for a Wife.

The Adrian, Michigan Times tells the following: The actors in this little domestic drama were Remselaar Mills, a wealthy farmer, living about a mile west of the village of Clinton, his daughter, Ida Mills, Alonzo Mills, his son, and Samuel Lazaleer, who has for the past three years been Miss Ida's affianced. It seems that the father of the girl objected to Lazaleer as a son-in-law, which seemed to make the younger people more determined than ever. The preliminaries which led to the episode occurred during the first of the week.

They had expected to be married about the 17th of last month, but the old gentleman had got an inkling of what was going on and thwarted their designs. It is rumored that on Thursday Lazaleer went to the house of Mr. Mills for the purpose of accompanying the daughter to Toledo, they proposing to have the marriage ceremony performed on the route. But Mills stopped this proceeding, and the daughter remained at home. The following day, Friday, the daughter repaired to the residence of a neighbor, George Wilson, and sent word to her lover where she could be found.

Lazaleer received the word about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and was soon on hand with a team, and a few moments later, in company with his soon-to-be bride, was taking a circuitous route to the village, to avoid passing the house of the parental Mills, which was situated on the direct road to the village. While driving leisurely along, judge of their surprise when suddenly a horse and buggy dashed by containing the father and brother. Young Mills sprang to the ground and attempted to seize Lazaleer's team by the bits. Taking in the situation at a glance, Lazaleer turned his team suddenly round, and before the Mills could get under way the object of their anxiety was out of sight.

This was near Franklin Centre, the young couple having perambulated the town of Franklin here and there before this, until they had already driven twelve or fifteen miles. The pursued party were headed for the village of Clinton, and now began the most exciting portion of the race. The Messrs. Mills entered the race in earnest. Lazaleer's team was a young and spirited one, while the other was scarcely less so. Before starting out Lazaleer had made arrangements with Dr. Alvord to be married at his house, provided he was fortunate enough to get possession of the young lady.

The intention of the fleeing couple was to gain time and reach Dr. Alvord's residence in season to have the marriage performed before their pursuers came up. To circumvent this was the old man's aim. The news of the chase had reached the village soon after it began, and Dr. Alvord, thinking that time might be precious, had procured the services of the Methodist minister, Rev. Mr. Fraree, who was awaiting the result of the race at the doctor's residence. At five minutes before 5 Lazaleer drove up. The young couple sprang from the buggy and rushed into the house. The required time was gained, but none to spare, for they were close at hand, but before they could get out of the buggy the nuptial knot was tied.

By this time a crowd had collected about the house, but it was soon locked and Messrs. Mills refused admittance. After trying every door, and using some extravagant language, they assured themselves that the marriage ceremony had actually been performed by an interview with the minister. They then went away. The appearance of the young couple as the ceremony was being performed is said to have been extremely singular and, under the circumstances, rather ludicrous.

So short was the time that no preparations could be made. They were dressed in common clothes and literally covered with mud, the result of their drive. The parties are all well connected, and outsiders cannot see why Mr. Mills should object so strenuously to the match. The affair, as it terminated, caused considerable excitement. What the ultimate result will be, whether a disinheritance or a reconciliation, has not yet transpired.

Remarkable Cases of Poisoning.

A Dayton special to the Cincinnati Gazette, says: An intelligent gentleman from Middletown relates a most remarkable case of disease, which has just transpired there. Dr. Carson was called to visit a young lady, a Miss Levison, whom he pronounced ill with scarlet fever. While administering medicine to the patient, she vomited slightly, some of the matter getting on one of his hands, on which was a scratch through the skin. The sore at once became inflamed, and began to swell, and became very painful. Indeed, it got so bad that the doctor was ill, and is confined to his bed. His case was deemed critical.

Miss Levison grew worse in the meantime and died. Her mother, who assisted at her bedside, and who also got some vomit on her hand at the same time as Dr. Carson did, was also taken ill in the same manner, and died from the effects, as it is believed. These are very singular cases and should be investigated.

Frederick Hesser, Coroner of Northumberland county, was murdered at Coal Run mines, near Shamokin, Friday night. There is great excitement, and the citizens have organized a committee to investigate.

S. HAMILTON & CO., 77 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Penn'a.

OUR MOTTO IS AND HAS BEEN

QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS!

Our business is exclusively PIANOS and ORGANS, which enables us to give our whole time and attention to this exclusive trade. Thus where other Dealers sell from five to ten instruments per week, our sales very often exceed these numbers in a single day, so that we can better afford to sell at 10 per cent. profit on cost, than they can at 20 and 25 per cent.

Every instrument we sell is as good as an agent for us, as they invariably introduce us favorably to all who see them. We have sold and in use in and about Pittsburgh alone. They are not some new Organ, the growth of a few months, but are old reliable makes, that are constantly adding every meritorious improvement. The really Grand Simmons & Clough's Combination Organs have been manufactured for Twenty-five years, while the Celebrated Taylor & Farley Celestes Organs have been manufactured over Twenty years. And now for the purpose of introducing them more thoroughly throughout all the country towns of the State, we have made new and very heavy contracts for large numbers of them, which we propose to sell on their merits, and without the assistance of AGENTS OR MIDDLE MEN, giving the purchaser the benefit of commissions and wholesale discounts, we are thus enabled to offer these Organs at the following prices, at which we shall sell for a short time

2,000 OF THESE ORGANS

Cabinet Cases, Double Reed, 4 Stop Organs, Regular Price,	$145.00	at $ 83.00
